

PLACES OF INTEREST

BELLINGHAM: Said to be sited on a Roman station. St Cuthbert's Church was consecrated in 1180 and is unique in having an arched stone roof built in response to the repeated burnings of its former wooden roof by border raiders. 'Cuddy's Well' is thought to have been used by St Cuthbert for baptisms, and to retain miraculous healing powers. HARESHAW LINN - a waterfall hidden in ancient woodland, is a short walk from Bellingham.

BIRTLEY: Standing on a ridge over the North Tyne valley, the place name means 'bright clearing' derived from the old-English word 'beorht'. The remains of several British camps encircle the village indicating the area has been settled since the Iron Age. Birtley Hall occupies the site of the old castle. On the opposite side of the road stands the 12th century church of St Giles.

WARK: Wark is a delightful village on the banks of the North Tyne. The village green is dominated by a chestnut planted in 1887 to celebrate Queen Victoria's golden jubilee. The town hall was built in 1875, and the bridge over the North Tyne constructed in 1878. In the middle ages, Wark was the seat of the 'Lordships of Tynedale' and a motte and bailey castle dominated the village. From 1150 to 1295 the Scottish kings held court in Wark as the village was then part of Scotland. The Lordship remained in royal hands until 1604. Wark has a general shop and pubs for refreshments.

CURLEW FACTS

The Curlew, is a wading bird that breeds on open moorland. Its call is a loud 'curloo-oo.' The curlew is the symbol of Northumberland National Park.

Whilst we have made every effort to suggest routes that are safe for cycling on legal rights of way, neither the producers or publishers of this leaflet can accept any responsibility arising from its use.
